

Greetings from MAF,

I would like to inform you about an opportunity that could greatly facilitate the work you do, and ultimately help your organization be more productive. Mission Aviation Fellowship

(MAF) is a mission organization using aviation and other technologies to advance the Gospel in many countries around the world. MAF has been flying in Haiti since 1986 assisting mission, relief and development organizations. All MAF aircraft are flown and maintained according to American FAA standards. We are in the process of contacting various organizations working in Haiti to see how we can partner with you in facilitating faster, safer and easier travel. We are also looking for opportunities to open new airstrips around Haiti. If your organization (or an organization you know) would be interested in building an airstrip to facilitate your work (or theirs), I would like to talk with you.

What can airstrips do to benefit your organization?

- Airstrips help when travel time is limited, road conditions are dangerous (bandits), or when roads are very poor and even impassable.
- Airstrips help work teams that come for a limited time to be more productive. A 10 to 15 hour trip by road takes an airplane only 30 to 45 minutes to fly.
- Airstrips help if there is a medical emergency and an airlift is the only means by which to save a life. The time saved could mean the difference between life and death in a medical crisis.

These are just a few examples of what access to an airplane can do for your organization! No doubt, you can think of more!

If your organization or an organization you know would be interested in this opportunity, let me know via email or phone. We would be very interested in working with you to make this a reality.

Thanks, Mark Williams
