Transport and Other Information

Rome is connected by a network of public transport including buses, trams and metro lines. Tickets (valid for all forms of public transport including some local train journeys such as the trip between Rome and Muratella) must be purchased in advance, are valid for 75 minutes and cost €1.50. They are available in all metro stations, tobacco shops and newsagents as well as from machines located at the airport and major bus stops. It is recommended that you purchase multiple tickets as these can be difficult to buy in the Parco De Medici complex where WFP is located. To calculate the easiest transportation route from any location in Rome to WFP, you can consult the ATAC public transport website – www.atac.roma.it.

From Central Rome to the WFP office by train:

- Board the FR1 line train towards Fiumicino airport
- Disembark at Muratella station
- The WFP office is a short five minute walk from the station. Exit the station on the side of the platform the train arrives, then turn right and walk for approximately 100 meters until you see a WFP sign on your left indicating a pathway to WFP. At the end of this path, turn right again until you reach the entrance of WFP HQ.

- Trains leave every fifteen minutes. The journey takes approximately 15 minutes from Ostiense Station, and approximately 12 minutes from Trastevere Station.
Taxis & Uber:

- Taxis are widely available and should have a ‘Comune di Roma’ sticker on the outside of the car. A taxi from Central Rome to WFP headquarters is €20-30 and takes approximately 20 minutes depending on traffic conditions.
  Radiotaxi – 06 3570, Prontotaxi – 06 6645 or download the MyTaxi app
- Uber X is not available in Rome. Uber Black is available but is not as commonly used.
