Australia	All airports		In order to manage and maintain quarantine arrangements across the jurisdictions of New South Wales, Victoria, Queensland and Western Australia, National Cabinet agreed to implement further caps on international arrivals, and an extension of current international passenger flight restrictions into Victoria. From Monday 13 July, the following will apply: Perth - a cap of 525 international arrivals per week will apply. Brisbane - an overall cap of 500 international arrivals per week will apply. Sydney - a cap of 450 international arrivals per day will continue, as announced on 4 July with a view to further reductions in subsequent weeks. Flexibility remains within these caps to as much as possible minimise disruptions to returning Australian citizens and permanent residents. These arrangements will be subject to a review by the National Cabinet before the end of July. Restrictions on outbound travel by Australian citizens and permanent residents remain in place, in accordance with the health advice to the Government.	13 July UFN	MEDIA STATEMENT 10 Jul 2020 Prime Minister of Australia	https://www.pm.gov.au/media/national-cabinet
Australia	All airports		You can only travel to Australia if you are an Australian citizen, a permanent resident, an immediate family member of an Australian citizen or permanent resident or are a New Zealand citizen usually resident in Australia. Travellers who have a compassionate or compelling reason to travel to Australia will need to have an exemption from the Australian Border Force Commissioner. All travellers arriving in Australia must undertake a mandatory 14-day quarantine at designated facilities (for example, a hotel), in their port of arrival. To transit Australia you must hold a valid visa or be from an eligible country to Transit Without a Visa (TWOV). If you don't hold a valid visa or are not eligible to TWOV you must apply for a visa to enter Australia. To transit Australia for up to 72 hours apply for a Transit visa (subclass 771). If you need to stay longer you must apply for a different visa. See explore your visa options.	9 July UFN	Australian Border Force, 9 July 2020	https://covid19.homeaffairs.gov.au/
