China	All airports		Air Crew: the testing and self-isolation arrangement of air crew who arrive at Hong Kong via Airport. The first thing is to identify the air crew members as local-based or non-local based crew. Airlines should provide each air crew member a letter certifying whether he/she is a local or non-local based crew. Those who do not possess the airline certification letter will be regarded as non-local based crew. For local based crew, they should proceed to Department of Health (DH)'s Temporary Specimen Collection Centre (TSCC) for collection of deep throat saliva sample and then they can leave for their accommodation agreed by the airline for self-isolation. They should self-isolate for 48 hours or until the next flight, whichever is earlier. Non-local based crew are recommended to possess a negative result of SARS-CoV-2 nucleic acid test done at an ISO15189-accredited laboratory or a laboratory recognized by the Government where the laboratory is located with the specimen collected within 48 hours prior to boarding the flight to Hong Kong for duty (i.e. a pre-departure negative result). The airline should declare on a letter of certification that the crew member concerned has been tested negative. Upon arrival at Hong Kong, all air crew members (no matter local or non-local based) must also submit a deep throat saliva specimen at the TSCC. For those non-local based crew who possess a pre-departure negative result and a certification letter issued by the airline, they can leave for their hotel for self-isolation after specimen collection and no need to wait for the result. For those who do NOT possess a pre-departure negative result, they have to wait at DH's TSCC or other location designated by DH until their test results are confirmed negative. Non-local based crew members have to self-isolate at the hotel room arranged by the airline until departure from Hong Kong on their next flight. Point-to-point transportation must be arranged by airlines between HKIA/TSCC and their hotels or accommodation. Use of public transport including MTR, Airport Express, and taxi for crew transfer is prohibited. Crew members must wear masks during the entire journey to and from the HKIA/TSCC. 2. Sea Crew: the testing arrangement of sea crew who are arriving at Hong Kong via Airport. With effect on 29 July 2020, crew change arrangement for all passenger vessels and goods vessels without cargo operation will be suspended. All incoming sea crew members of goods vessels coming to Hong Kong for cargo operation arriving at the Hong Kong International Airport (HKIA) must obtain a negative result of nucleic acid test for COVID-19 conducted at a recognised laboratory within 48 hours prior to boarding. Upon arrival to Hong Kong, they must also submit a deep throat saliva specimen at the DH's TSCC and wait at the TSCC or other location designated by DH until their test results are confirmed negative. Sea crew members who fail to present any of the three required documentary proof: 1) a negative test report, 2) a letter of certification declared by the shipping companies/agents that the crew member concerned has been tested negative for SARS-CoV-2 nucleic acid conducted at a recognised laboratory with the specimen collected within 48 hours prior to boarding the flight to Hong Kong, with an emergency local contact phone number for prompt contact with the concerned crew under emergency situation, and 3) an approval letter from the Marine Department, upon arrival will be subject to compulsory quarantine or refusal entry rendering them being not able to board the vessels. Shipping companies/agents must arrange point-to-point transfer for the sea crew members. The use of public transportation which will serve the general public at the same time is prohibited. Incoming and outgoing sea crew members must only travel between the vessels and HKIA and should not go into the community.
